Only One Contest In Town Election Next Tuesday

Nine Offices to Be Filled; Three Seek Justice of Peace Office

With the exception of the three-way contest for justice of the peace in Antioch township, next Tuesday's election holds little thrill for local political railbirds who in former years have enjoyed on many occasions what might be mildly referred to as "hot elections."

Heading the list of township candidates for Assessor on the Peoples Party ballot is E. L. Simons.

Simons will make his twelfth assessment of township property this spring, having been first appointed as assessor following the death of Assessor Harold E. Gelstrup 12 years ago, since which time he has been elected to the office.

Three Seek Justice Office

Lively competition is expected to develop in the balloting for justice of the peace, since there are three entrants for the office and only two to be elected. The candidates are the two incumbents, John Brogan and Raymond Sorenson, and J. C. James, who was defeated by Sorenson four years ago.

In the previous election held in 1935, Sorenson was defeated by the late J. H. Dickson, but the young Democrat again entered the race two years later, and defeated James by 41 votes.

During his long career, James has served for 24 years as a justice of the peace, and he also served one term as police magistrate for the village. Constables James Webb and Edward J. Flanagan have no opposition for reelection, and town collector John L. Horan likewise is without an opponent. While Horan has served for a full four year term he has functioned but one year as collector of taxes—in 1940. Previous to last year there was difficulty and too much delay in receiving the tax books to permit of the collection of taxes locally. There has been agitation in the legislature at Springfield to have the office of township collector abolished but it seems unlikely that the measure will be enacted into law at this session of the general assembly, so for this year taxes may be paid to the township collectors.

Two Candidates for Library Board

Two members of the township library board are up for election without opposition. They are Mrs. W. W. Ward, incumbent, and George White, candidate to succeed A. H. Pierstorff, who asked to be relieved of his duties after four years of service.

Other members of the six member board are Dr. R. D. Williams, Mrs. Ed. P. Vos, elected two years ago, and Dr. L. J. Zimmerman and Mrs. Eleanor Micheli, elected four years ago. Two members are elected every two years.

MRS. CHRISTENSEN DIES IN HOSPITAL; FUNERAL SATURDAY

Mrs. Kristina Christensen, 64, died Tuesday morning in Victory Memorial hospital, where she had undergone a major operation Saturday. Funeral services will be held Saturday in the Strang Funeral home, with interment in Union cemetery, Hickory.

Besides her husband, Swan Christensen, she is survived by nine sons and daughters, Anna (Mrs. Lyman Thain) of Millburn; Albert, of Antioch; Norman, of San Diego, Calif.; Camilla (Mrs. Harold Rowling), Lake Villa; Arthur, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Harry, of Berwyn, Ill.; Charles, of DeWitt, Tex.; Otto, of Antioch, and Agnes, (Mrs. Norman Petersen), of Waukegan.

There are nine grandchildren. A brother, Anton Christensen (her maiden name was also Christensen), lives at Chester, Iowa.

Mrs. Christensen was born on Morse Island, Denmark. She had lived in Antioch township for the past 21 years.

Called for Service

Robert Mortensen, who has served as National Guardsman with Co. H, 129th Inf., has been called for induction into the army. He will report at the Waukegan armory next Tuesday.

Swinging his car off the road to avoid an oncoming automobile on Route 21 south of Loon lake, Arthur W. Meyer, 20, of Grass Lake was cut and bruised on the face and right leg Wednesday when his machine truck a culvert and turned over in a ditch.

Fox Lake Groups Distribute 42,000 Pieces of Advertising

More than 42,000 pieces of literature advertising the year-round recreation resources of the Lakes region are being distributed at the Outdoor Sportsman's show in Chicago this week under the joint auspices of several Fox Lake organizations. These include the Outdoor Sportsman's committee of the Lions club organization of Fox Lake, Ingleside and Long Lake, which has its headquarters in Fox Lake; the Retail Liquor-Dealers' Protective association and Lake Region Post No. 703 of the American Legion.

Fox Lake village officials also co-operated.

The Sportsman's show, which draws thousands of visitors daily, is being held in the International Livestock Amphitheatre. It will continue through this week-end, closing Sunday evening.

The literature distributed by the Fox Lake sportsmen's committee, representing 150 resorts, business establishments, taverns, restaurants, and individuals in the Chain of Lakes area, includes folders, letters and leaflets.

The folders, with a green, white and black color scheme, show scenes of fishing, boating, swimming, hunting, trap-shooting, golfing, speed-boating, ice-racing, tobogganing, skiing and other forms of recreation, as enjoyed in the "Heart of Nature" in the lakes area.

Separate leaflets include summaries of hunting and fishing laws, train schedules and the names of sponsors.

The material was designed and printed at the Antioch News, which also made that distributed by the Fox Lake groups at last year's show. Last year's folder won considerable commendation, and this year's material has again been praised for its artistic and advertising merit by those who have seen it.

BROCH TO TELL OF NAZI INVASION IN NORWAY LAST YEAR

The young mayor of Narvik, Norway, when it was seized by German troops last spring, will soon tell here of the invasion and of his flight to America. He is Theodor Broch, 36 years old, who will appear here Monday evening, March 3, under auspices of the Business and Professional Woman's club.

Broch was serving his sixth year as Narvik's mayor last April 9 when disaster struck, he says. He was aroused by the boom of big guns in the harbor. He hastened to his office in the city hall. The Germans were already there. The general in command demanded quarters for his troops, and warned against resistance.

The general, a tall thin man about 60 years old, tried to be very polite," says Broch. "He smiled, and said the Germans were coming as friends." But the smiling general five days later condemned Broch to be shot as a saboteur. His offense was to order all Norwegian telegraphers in Narvik from their posts in an effort to cripple German communications. The death sentence later was suspended, however, and the mayor was paroled on the pleas of Narvik citizens.

For seven weeks Broch was a hostage, then on May 28 British-French-Norwegian forces drove the Nazis out of Narvik. The release lasted only one week. Then Germans retook the city, and Broch was arrested again.

He was locked in a village's house for the night, but luck and friends were with him. He escaped and after many adventures, reached Stockholm, Sweden. There he got American visas and came across Russia and the Pacific to the United States.

While Broch described Maj. Vidkun Quisling as Norway's "greatest and only traitor," it was not Quisling but German fifth columnists who betrayed Norway and caused her temporary downfall, he says. He adds, "Quisling some day will be punished as a traitor by a free Norwegian court."

Firemen Discuss "Model Home" Building Project

Dan S. Boyer of the Johns-Manville company spoke at a meeting of the Antioch Fire department Tuesday evening in the fire station, and discussed with the firemen the possibility of sponsoring the building of a "model home" in Antioch.

A committee consisting of James McMillen, Walter Scott and Cleve Vos was appointed to learn whether the Legion and Lions organizations of Antioch would join in sponsoring this project.

The date of the annual firemen's benefit wrestling match, originally planned for some time in March, is being postponed, in order to make sure that draft calls for some of the younger wrestlers will not interfere with the program once it is "set."

Flood Gates to Be Constructed at Wilmot Dam

WPA Funds Allotted for Flood Control Project on Fox River

Plans for the construction of flood gates at the Wilmot dam, and for the improvement of the park area in the vicinity of the dam at Wilmot village have been disclosed in a prospectus of Works Project Administration activities for Kenosha county, as presented by Frank Zoubek, WPA director for the Kenosha county board.

Zoubek indicated that allocation of funds and project approval have already been accorded for the Fox river flood control work at the Wilmot dam. He indicated that materials will be furnished by the county and that funds for labor on the project are provided in a $9,675 allocation by the Federal government.

The construction of the flood gates on the east end of the Wilmot dam is a long sought improvement from the standpoint of property owners in the area. The gates were ordered for the dam by the Wisconsin Public Service commission a year ago following a hearing on complaints of excessive high water damage by the Fox river at flood stage near the dam.

Will Provide By-pass

Testimony submitted at the hearing a year ago showed that since the suspension of activities of a Wilmot power development company, a mill race, fell into disuse and was eventually blocked. This development brought an aggravation of flood conditions north of the dam and involved property and crop losses when the Fox river rose to near flood stages. The commission order requested Kenosha county to take steps to alleviate the flood situation and the new WPA project, according to Zoubek, is the county move for the fulfillment of the order.

Under plans for the project, the gates will be constructed as a by-pass at the east end of the century old dam. The gates will be 24 feet wide and 12 feet high. The gate construction, according to Zoubek, will be entirely adequate for the purpose. Heavy logs, installed so that they can be raised or lowered as flood conditions require, will be featured in the gates.

The project has now been given federal approval and will be started as soon as funds are released by the state offices. The project will provide 17,000 man hours of work.

Plan Added Improvements

In addition to the construction of the flood gates, the project included an extensive improvement for the park area in the immediate vicinity of the Wilmot dam. In the village park near the dam site a small shelter house with a concession stand, 20 x 18 feet, will be erected. A foot bridge will be built on the park property to provide ready access to the park shelter.

The project plan also calls for the construction of a retaining wall on the east bank of the river near the dam. Construction of and installation of outdoor fireplaces, picnic tables, seats and a parking area are also included in the proposed work.

Berry Production Studied by Adult Night School Class

Prof. V. W. Kelley of Uni- versity of Illinois Will Speak

Prof. V. W. Kelley of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, will lead the discussion on "Small Fruit Culture" at the Adult Evening School of the High School on Thursday evening, March 6, at 8 p. m.

Strawberry, raspberry, and bramble and vine fruits will be studied. Men and women of the vicinity are invited to attend these weekly meetings.

It is hoped that an entomology expert will also be present to discuss insect problems.

AAA SIGN-UP

There will be a meeting in the agricultural room of the Antioch Township High school this coming Saturday, March 1st, from 9 till 4, for all farmers in Antioch, Lake Villa, Avon and Grant townships. There will also be a meeting in the Farmers' Hall, Grayslake, on Friday, March 6, for those who cannot come to the meeting in Antioch.

An automobile driven by Oliver Hunt of Antioch was damaged in a collision with another machine near Grayslake Wednesday evening.

The Foreign Invasion That Must Be Stopped

Slot Machines Must Go, State's Attorney Says

War on "Independents" as Well as Syndicates Is Declared

Since the "law" clamped down on big slot machine syndicates operating in Lake county, some of the "independents" have been from time to time endeavoring to move in on this territory. Now State's Attorney Harry A. Hall announces that plans are under way to suppress the gambling devices introduced by the independents, and that he is conferring with Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy to map a program of vigorous action against them.

Among the "independents" alleged to have promoted the placing and operation of slot machines and other devices is Russell "Bussy" Keulman of Antioch. Cook county operators are also said to have been active.

According to Hall, owners of the resorts and taverns are being warned to get rid of the machines, in case they have been installed.

The lure of "big money and easy life" has attracted many small-time operators, but it's going to turn out to be "the hard way" instead, according to the steps being taken by State's Attorney Hall.

ANTIOCH F. F. A. TEAMS DEFEAT WOODSTOCK

The Future Farmer teams of the Antioch High School defeated the Woodstock F. F. A. teams in a double header at the High School gym Monday evening.

The first team won by a score of 57 to 9, while the seconds won by 15 to 13.

The Antioch F. F. A. team has had no defeats during the past two years. According to C. L. Kutil, who has charge of the teams, one more game with Gurnee F. F. A. remains to be played.

Marellbar Farms Purchase Bull from Perth, Scotland

Word was received recently from Scotland, according to Frank W. Harding, livestock importer of Chicago, that Marellbar Farms, Libertyville, Ill., were successful in buying the good young Shorthorn bull, Cluny Crown Diamond, in the big show and sale at Perth, Scotland, Feb. 11 and 12.

The price necessary to obtain this promising young bull, said Harding, was 300 guineas, or a little more than $1,200 at the current rate of exchange. Being bred by Cluny Diamond Company, Cluny Crown Diamond is a half brother to a number of the heifers recently imported by Marellbar.

This bull, as well as the imported heifers now at Marellbar, were bred in the herd of Mrs. B. H. Linzee-Gordon, Cluny Castle, Aberdeenshire, Scotland.

Antioch High school's basketball team will play Friday evening in the tournament at Hebron. The Sequoits will meet the winner of tonight's game between Hebron and McHenry.

Clair Elliott, volunteer draft selector from Antioch, is now stationed at Rantoul Field, near Champaign.

Illicit Still Is Revealed When Old Barn Burns

"Mink Farm" Proves to Be 800-Gallon Alcohol Cooking Plant

A "still alarm" that really was just that, was the one calling the Antioch fire department on Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock when an illegal distillery capable of producing 800 gallons of alcohol a day and the barn that housed it were destroyed by fire.

The barn was located on the Evan Kaye farm north of Antioch. The big farmhouse, a few hundred feet from the 35-year-old barn, is used by the Catholic Order of Foresters for an old people's home. This building was also threatened by the flames. The farm is part of the former Chris Pashchen property.

Kaye stated that he had no knowledge of the still, but had rented the barn and a small house to two men who said they intended to establish a mink farm. Five cages, containing eight mink, were found by the Antioch fire department and sheriff's deputies who sped to the scene to find the boiler, pipes and coils of the still visible among blazing debris in the flames-swept interior of the barn.

The firemen busied themselves keeping the fire from spreading to the farm house. The still and vats containing 18,000 gallons of mash and alcohol were destroyed by the fire, which burned all day Sunday and part of the night.

Everything Kept "Quiet"

The operators of the still could not be found, although the deputies searched diligently. It is believed that two men who were observed running away at the time the fire broke out may have been the operators, or possibly members of a rival gang of alky cooks who may have set the blaze. The alarm was turned in by a neighbor who saw smoke and flames pouring from the roof of the barn.

According to neighborhood rumor, unlighted trucks were seen traveling in and out of the farm at late hours, and men had been seen sitting in unlighted autos nearby. Neighbors who ventured to question the seven or eight men alleged to have been employed at the barn were warned that "everything will be nice and quiet as long as you fellows mind your own business" — and were significantly shown the business end of a revolver by way of illustration.

Sheriff's officers are not particularly hopeful about finding some of the men who ran the still, but they're still looking. The mink were taken to a mink farm at Wadsworth.

FUNERAL RITES ARE HELD TUESDAY FOR MRS. WALTER DIBBLE

She is survived by her husband, by her parents, William and Margaret Hook; by two brothers, William Hook of Lake Villa, and Richard Hook of Gurnee, and a sister, Mrs. Edith Rhymer of Gurnee.

Mrs. Dibble had been in poor health for some time.

Power Farming Machinery Show Is Well Attended

Many See Movies at Lake Theatre, Visit Sheahan Store Afterward

One hundred and fifty farm owners and managers gathered at the Lakes theatre Saturday afternoon to see sound motion pictures on the use of power farming machinery presented under the auspices of Sheahan Brothers of Antioch, McCormick-Deering representatives.

After the program, a number of those present availed themselves of the invitation to visit the Sheahan brothers' new farm machinery store on Depot street and inspect their display room and supplies and repair departments.

Talks during the program were given by Frank Griebel of Burlington, district representative of the McCormick-Deering company, and Dave Elliott of Milwaukee.

The movies showed power machinery in actual operation.

A greatly enjoyed feature of the program were songs and other entertainment numbers by the Malone sisters, stars of stage and radio.

The Sheahan Brothers, Dan, Joe and Eugene, recently took over the McCormick-Deering agency operated for many years by C. F. Richards, and established repair and display departments in their newly remodeled place on Depot street.

"Variety Concert" At- tracts Good Audience; Is Well Received

One of the best musical programs that has as yet been given at Antioch High school was the "variety concert" presented by the band, chorals and swing band Friday night before a well-filled auditorium. Practically the entire program met with an enthusiastic reception, and the groups and soloists taking part were warmly praised by the listeners for their excellent performances. The concert was given under the direction of Hans von Holwede, musical director at the school.

Legion delegates from Antioch post attended a county meeting at Lake Bluff on Friday night.

Mementoes of Past Wars Shown in Legion Ladies' Display for Peace Display

The drumsticks and sling, carried at Lincoln's funeral in Washington, D. C.; a bayonet from the Battle of Vicksburg; a headed pouch made by Indians at the time of the Revolutionary War; the flag sent from France with the body of Private Oscar A. Sorenson, Company C, 28th infantry, First division; French and American helmets from the World War—these are some of the interesting articles shown in the "National Defense Week" display arranged by the Antioch American Legion auxiliary and on view now in the show windows at Phillips' store.

A large, framed copy of the Constitution of the United States, flanked by the Legion colors and the United States flag; Legion umbrellas, electrically illuminated at night; World War relics in the shape of German, American and French bullets, weapons, equipment, and so on, and Army and Navy uniforms are other articles in the display.

Various military, naval and marine corps insignia are also shown.

The display bears the slogan, "National Defense for Peace."

Grade School Patrol Will Be Honored Friday

Members of the school boy patrol system of the Antioch Grade school will be honored in a dinner to be held at the school on Friday night.

Merit badge awards will be presented to the boys, 17 in number, by Principal R. E. Clabaugh.

"These boys have been painstaking and conscientious in their duties and merit these honors," Mr. Clabaugh states.

Directed by these boys (all of whom have been trained to use the utmost care and caution in piloting children across Main street, the heavily traveled highway which runs past the school, and other busy streets in the neighborhood) none of the pupils in the school has met with an accident, on the way to or from school.

Farm Relief Again

Again Congressmen are talking about the agricultural problem. Again farm relief schemes are being proposed. Again the lawmakers are preparing to unleash the financial floodgates of the Treasury in an effort to bring prosperity to the farm.

There is a nostalgic note to all this. For farm relief has undoubtedly been the most persistent and long lived of all political issues, with the exception of the tariff. Every administration for decades has had a plan to offer. Every general election has seen both parties battling over different farm-aid planks in their platforms. Without criticizing the motives underlying all these efforts, it is certainly apparent that every one of them has been ineffective. None has realized the hopes of its proponents. Further, the fact that farm relief plans change with every shift in political power, like all political activities, makes for waste, inefficiency and lack of results.

While political farm relief has held the headlines, another kind of "farm relief" has been quietly making real progress. The farmer-owned, farmer-controlled agricultural marketing co-operatives haven't dramatized themselves—but they have done a great work in stabilizing markets, improving production methods, and gaining for the farmer a fairer share of the selling price of his goods by the simple practice of business methods. They don't endanger the independence and freedom of action of the farmer as do many of the political farm relief measures.

Keep the Sun Shining

Success has its great rewards. And it also has its headaches. Nothing was ever accomplished that didn't attract criticism from malcontents. The failure likes nothing better than to denounce the successful man. The chain stores provide an apt case in point. During recent years they have been submitted to a tremendous verbal attack. They have been charged with destroying competition—in spite of government statistics and other evidence which proves the contrary. They have been charged with cheating their customers—in spite of the indisputable fact that "gyp" business methods are the surest known way to drive away trade. They have been charged with being tools of the "money powers"—despite the ascertainable fact that few large businesses are so completely decentralized.

The truth is that the typical chain grew because public patronage forced it to grow. The Saturday Evening Post has been running a serial account of the Woolworth five-and-ten system. The first Woolworth store, started by one man, was about as forlorn a looking enterprise as anyone could imagine. Skeptics forecast its early demise, and for a long time the going was tough. But more and more people came to like the "five-and-ten" idea, and little by little a great merchandising system developed from a hole-in-the-wall store with a pitifully small stock of goods. That is the story of practically all the chains, as well as the story of a high proportion of America's businesses in other fields.

We can destroy business by law. We can destroy progress. We can destroy jobs, opportunities, wealth. We can curb ideas and initiative. We can permit ourselves to be deluded into making size the arbiter of industrial virtue and vice in this country. We can do all of this by constantly attacking business and success, but we cannot at the same time keep our place in the sun.

Plea for Memory Teaching—Abandoned by Teachers

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

Some time ago, in this column, I pleaded in behalf of the forgotten memory. I deplored the fad at school of having children learn practically nothing by heart, the outcome of teachings and writings by certain educational philosophers who, always warning against "indoctrination," have indoctrinated many who are teaching our children, with the belief that it were almost a sin to have a child learn anything by heart.

These wreckers of rote learning have pretty well annihilated it, not only in day schools but also in Sunday schools, especially among younger children. Accordingly, in school, the child is not set to learn anything. He is to get endless impressions. He is to be exposed to all sorts of "life experiences" and talk about them, lots of talk. If he happens in the process to remember a few facts or gain some skills, very well, but he is not to be encumbered with such minor matters. Facts and skills are to come incidentally, sort of by accident. But how few the accidents!

Woe to this child when he enters high school where some rote learning is required for success in practically every academic subject. How far will he progress in history or science if he has not practiced learning by heart some facts and symbols? Of course, there is a rare genius, one among 10,000, who has such a keen memory that facts stick without any effort on his part. But that is not true of the majority of students.

In my previous article I said that practically anything worth learning (as to meaning) was worth remembering and that, as a rule, as soon as the meaning of a fact was acquired it should be memorized.

Now I would go still further and maintain that a good many things should be memorized before they are fully understood, such as certain useful symbols, certain gems of literature, and certain statements which symbolize our American way, as the Pledge to the Flag, and the Preamble to the Constitution. Let the child learn with precision such precious items early and repeat them often under a guidance which will gradually reveal to him their true meaning.

Even to you and me their meaning gradually grows richer. So does the meaning of the Twenty-third Psalm or the Lord's Prayer. How many of us ever would have learned it if we had waited till we were sure we understood it.

I wish my fellow parents and their children, in the United States, would say over and over the Preamble of the Constitution of the United States, until they had learned it by heart; and then continue saying it frequently as a kind of family ritual. I wish also this were done in schools, even in the lower grades. Here it is:

"We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America."

I wish those who read this would clip it and pin it on the wall. It would be even better if a parent or child were to print in large letters a beautiful copy of this on cardboard to be displayed on the home wall. Why not the same in every classroom of the United States?

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Q. Is generous praise of the child wholesome?
A. As a rule, yes, if honest and for something the child has gained by effort and self-sacrifice.

PRESCRIPTION FOR SUCCESS

As Thomas Edison's birthday rolls around again on February 11, we recall the analysis of the great inventor's genius by his friend, Henry Ford, who said, "All his life Mr. Edison had imagination. He knew all things were possible once we amassed the knowledge to build the power to overcome the impossible. But the thing about him that stands out in my mind above everything else was his capacity for the hard working and hard thinking necessary to turn his visions into realities."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for March 2

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE AUTHORITY OF CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Luke 19:41-42:5.
GOLDEN TEXT—And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?—Luke 9:46.

"By what authority doest thou these things?" The question of the scribes was a proper one, even though their spirit and purpose in asking it may have been wrong. Any man who claims to have authority over others should expect to be asked that question and be prepared to give an honest answer.

I. Authority Rejected (vv. 41-44). On the previous day our Lord had made His kingly triumph entry into the city and many had acclaimed Him (see vv. 37-40); but the city as a whole—and especially its leaders, both religious and governmental—had rejected Him.

As He came toward the city the next day and it spread out before Him in beautiful panorama, His tender heart was broken and He wept. His tears were not for Himself, but for the people who had rejected Him. We are told that the word used "for weeping here does not mean merely . . . tears" but "rather, the heaving of the bosom, and the sob and cry of a soul in agony" (Morgan).

That is how He feels about you who reject His authority today, for the city of Jerusalem represented the attitude of all unbelieving humanity. He loves you, sinner, and weeps over your rejection of Him; but just as He ultimately had to reject the city because it rejected Him, He will have to condemn you in your sin if you continue to reject Him. Why do it?

II. Authority Asserted (vv. 45, 46). The act of Jesus in cleansing the temple was very bold, for He held no position in the temple and He had no police powers. Only a man with a disordered mind or in a frenzy of anger would assume such authority if it did not belong to him. This means that Jesus acting as He did here, quietly, deliberately, and intelligently, was declaring by His deed that the one whose authority is above and back of all human authority had come to cleanse His Father's house.

It is a striking scene. Let us see in it all the gracious majesty, power and authority of the Son of God, our Saviour and Lord.

III. Authority Accepted (vv. 47, 48). The people "were very attentive," or more effectively, as in the Revised Version, they "all hung upon him." How remarkable it is that "the common people heard him gladly" (Mark 12:37), while the learned leaders, both in religious and political circles, hated and rejected Him.

That situation has continued throughout the centuries. Let us not be disturbed or confused by the fact that so many "leading" men and women (thank God, not all of them, by any means) reject or question the claims of Christ. It is the very thing we ought to expect.

Young people, be not at all disturbed by that supposedly conclusive statement, "scholarship is agreed," for usually it proves to be wrong. Don't be surprised if some leading novelist, or tycoon of the business world, is not a follower of Christ.

Meet Jesus yourself and you will learn to love Him and want to serve Him. Get the balanced judgment of "the common people" who have really met the Lord, and you will find the right way—God's way.

IV. Authority Defended (20:1-8). Humanly speaking, the priests and scribes were right when they challenged Christ. He had no official position which justified His acts and His words. But note carefully that the very fact that He, in return for their "Tell us," replied, "Tell me," indicates that the human authority which had a right to challenge other human authority had now met the One who is "the head of all principality and power." He had a supreme right to say, "Before I answer you, tell me."

We are apt to regard the answer of Jesus to their question as a skillful evasion of a difficult situation, but it was far more than that. If they had replied honestly to His question regarding John, and admitted that His authority was from heaven, Jesus would probably have said, "Then what did he say of me?" He would have reminded them of the statement of John that he was not worthy to loose the latchet of His shoes, of his prophecy of the judgment to come, of the baptism of fire (see Luke 3:16-17), of the day when John called Him "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29).

Here was proof concerning His authority, but they did not dare to ask for it because they did not want it. You too, reader, if you have questions regarding the claim of Christ to authority over your life may have a satisfying answer, but only if you honestly want it and will receive it with open mind and heart.

Check Every Cow's Record And Sell Unprofitable Ones

"A dairy cow eats feed by the day and makes milk by the day," says Meade Summers, manager of the Dairy Department for Purina Mills. "Also, she requires about the same amount of attention every day. That makes it easy to figure out whether or not she produces enough milk every day to pay for the cost of her keep and also leave a profit for her owner."

To convert whole milk into pounds of butterfat, Summers says that for Jerseys, a pound of butterfat is the equivalent of approximately 2-1/3 gallons or 20 pounds of milk; for Guernseys it equals about 22 pounds or 2 1/2 gallons; for Ayrshires, 25 pounds or 2 3/4 gallons; and for Holsteins, 30 pounds or 3 1/2 gallons.

Checking Returns
"After one has found out how much each of his cows is producing, he can easily check to see just how much she is paying for her feed," he explains.

Sell Unprofitable Cows

"The thing to do is to feed the herd a dairy ration that is nationally recognized for the job it does, then study each cow to see if she's paying for her keep on the basis of her daily production," Summers suggests. "Of course, age of the cow and length of lactation must be taken into consideration. However, in every case, she must average at least a pound of butterfat per day to pay her way."

HAS FORD THE ANSWER?

NEW YORK. — After a six months' investigation of airplane manufacture throughout most of the United States, Edward P. Flynn, of the New York Post, found no likelihood of mass production by airplane manufacturers.

So he went to Detroit to see if there was any possibility of mass production of airplane engines by the automobile companies.

"To achieve mass production," Flynn writes, "Ford has quietly undertaken a job which may well prove to be the most important single contribution to defense production—development of a liquid-cooled aircraft motor so designed that it could be made in mass production in his gigantic River Rouge plant."

"It won't mean anything for 1941 of course, but conceivably it might mean world air supremacy in 1942."

"If the hopes of the Ford engineers are realized, it will be possible within a year to turn out great quantities of airplane motors, not by the slow, man-hour consuming processes, which must be followed in constructing the aircraft motors now being built in this country, but in something very much like the assembly-line style that Ford created."

After commenting that some airplane engineers with whom he talked elsewhere doubt that Ford or anyone else can manufacture plane engines in mass production, Flynn, still impressed by what he has seen at Ford's, declares:

"The Ford engineers have always busied themselves with hereafter—the things that violated all the rules and simply couldn't be done. They are doing that now with the aircraft motor. Henry Ford may yet prove his boast that he could make a thousand planes a day."

Cynosure

A cynosure is a center of attraction, anything to which attention is strongly turned. The root meaning in Greek is dog's tail, and the word was originally applied to the constellation Ursa Minor, to which the eyes of mariners and travelers were often directed because it contained the North Star.

Deaths during the war in the American Expeditionary forces and among troops in the United States from all causes, the war department announces, total 107,444. Of these, 48,768 were from injuries received in battle.

"The work of the United States navy during the late war equalled if it did not surpass the traditions of the service," declared Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt, who returned from Europe with President Wilson on the transport George Washington. "During the war we had 359 vessels of all classes based in European ports. . . . Of these, 20 were sea plane stations. The work of our planes was wonderful. . . . The navy demobilization in Europe has now been generally completed."

"The arrangements of the present peace cannot stand a generation unless they are guaranteed by the united forces of the civilized world," said President Wilson, speaking at an assembly attended by Governor Coolidge and the mayor of Boston. "Every interest seeks out first of all, when it reaches Paris, the representatives of the United States—because there is no nation in Europe that suspects the motive of the United States. . . . America is the hope of the world. . . . and if she does not justify that hope the results are unthinkable. . . . Men will be thrown back upon the bitterness of disappointment, not only, but the bitterness of despair. All nations will be set up as hostile camps again."

First Mace

The mace was provided for by a resolution adopted by the house during the first congress on April 14, 1789. The first mace used by the house was destroyed by fire when the British burned the Capitol in 1814. From that time until 1842 a mace of painted wood served. In that year the present mace was made in reproduction of the original. It is over three feet in height and consists of a bundle of ebony rods, representing the states, bound with a band of silver in imitation of the fasces. From the center protrudes the stem of a silver globe surmounted by a silver eagle with outspread wings.

Laid End to End They Add up to a Swell Idea

We mean these Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Series that Give you Big-Car Thrill in less Curbside Space

THE way cars have been stretching out lately, it usually takes only a couple of cars to occupy the curb space of an extension-ladder fire truck.

Not so with the newest additions to the 1941 Buick line.

Here we've reversed the trend—just to prove that an honest-to-golly BIG car can be built without going overboard on bumper-to-bumper distance.

The four new models now adorning the Buick SPECIAL Series fit neatly into modest garages without putting a permanent crimp in the doors.

They slip into parking places smoothly as a rowboat nestles up to a dock—and the way they fit through traffic is a delight to wheel-weary drivers.

When it comes to action—well, they've got a 115-hp. FIREBALL eight under their bonnets that skims you down the road like a mallard heading home. You can add Compound Carburetion at small extra cost and have 125 horsepower that does things we hardly dare hint about in print.

But they're a handy six inches shorter, bumper to bumper, than other Buicks—a quartet of top-quality cars in a new and easily-handled size.

The price? It's lower too. So better take a look at the first really BIG car in this bumper-to-bumper size.

SOCIETY EVENTS

Legion's Military Ball Proves to Be Colorful Affair

Colorful and enjoyable, the "Military Ball" sponsored by the Antioch American Legion post Saturday evening in the Antioch High School gymnasium, has been conceded by the 500 persons who attended it to have been one of the most successful social events held in Antioch to date.

Especially picturesque was the grand march at 10 p. m., led by Capt. H. L. Corke of Waukegan, ranking officer of the evening, and his wife, with Capt. and Mrs. L. D. Powles of Antioch second.

Invitations had been extended to certain groups of enlisted men at "Great Lakes and Fort Sheridan," as well as to officers, to reserve officers of the army and navy in this area, and to Legion officers and civic officials of the state and district.

Since many availed themselves of the invitations, and military and navy men and Legionnaires, as well as firemen and other uniformed services followed requests that uniforms be worn, these all helped to make the scene impressive.

Patriotic colors and emblems were used to decorate the gymnasium for the event, which took the place of the Legion's annual Washington's birthday ball.

A floor show, with R. H. Childers as master of ceremonies, was presented during the evening.

Johann Mayfield's 10-piece orchestra played for the dancing.

The committee for the evening included Capt. Powles as chairman, John Horan, J. Harry Messing, local Legion commander, Roman Vos, John Theisen, Walter Hills and Dr. A. P. Bratrud.

Members of the Legion auxiliary formed the committee in charge of the serving of luncheon in the cafeteria.

STUDY OF FOODS WILL OCCUPY CLASS

What's in a meal? Are carrots good for you? Why is milk important? What are the minimum essentials of a day's diet for health?

These and other questions are to be answered at the adult home-making class which meets tonight at 7:45 o'clock in Antioch Township High school.

Since nutrition and diet are essential considerations for a healthy family, every homemaker should keep as well posted on these subjects as possible. National defense, too, brings the subject of managing the food dollar to the fore. A movie on "Romance and Meat" and a talk by a meat expert will contribute to the program.

Any questions which the class members might have in regard to food and diet will be answered. This is the seventh class held under the direction of Miss Isabel Larimer, vocational home economics teacher. The classes are free and everyone is welcome to attend.

HOME MANAGEMENT CLASS TAKES TRIP TO CHICAGO

The home management class of Antioch Township High school, enjoyed a field trip to Chicago Tuesday, visiting the Cradle in Evanston, Marshall Field's, Merchandise Mart and N. B. C., and a wholesome food market. This trip was the culmination of several weeks' study on housing, living on a budget and food buying.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Charles attended the consecration of Bishop Conkling, new bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, Monday at an impressive ceremony held in St. James church, the oldest Episcopal church in Chicago.

Members of the Eastern Star Officers' club met at the home of Mrs. O. E. Bachmeister last evening.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mind" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 23.

The Golden Text was, "It is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure" (Philippians 2:13).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counselor hath taught him? With whom took he counsel, and who instructed him, and taught him in the path of judgment, and taught him knowledge, and shewed to him the way of understanding?" (Isaiah 40:13, 14).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other, sin would be unknown. We can have but one Mind. If that one is infinite" (p. 469).

Admitting a State

No steps for admitting a state into the Union have been fixed, but a substantially uniform procedure has grown up. Ordinarily the process is set in motion by the people of the territory sending a petition to congress for admission as a state. If this is regarded with favor, congress passes an enabling act, authorizing the territorial officials to arrange for a popularly elected convention to frame a state constitution. After the constitution is prepared it is submitted to the people and, if adopted, is sent to congress for approval. If it is accepted, a resolution is passed declaring the territory a state.

Firemen Disapprove Insurance Bill

Members of the Lake County Firemen's association at Wauconda Monday night voted to enter a protest against passage of a proposed law that would force all cities, villages and fire districts to insure members of their fire departments.

Because all county communities with volunteer departments already have weekly indemnity and accidental death benefits that are superior to those contemplated in the proposed insurance measure, a resolution was adopted declaring disapproval of it.

The firemen's pension committee of the association, headed by Noel E. White of Fox Lake, was instructed to ask Rep. Harold D. Kelsey to take immediate steps toward blocking passage of the insurance measure.

Insurance interests of the state, fearful that the volunteer firemen's pension bill will involve them in some new form of taxation, it is said, are countering with this insurance measure.

On the other hand, the insurance companies through promotion of the firemen's insurance bill may not only bring about the defeat of the pension bill but at the same time would stand to profit by the volume of new business if they can obtain the approval of their bill in the general assembly.

The county association has been working for the passage of the pension bill for more than two years. If subsequent events show that passage of the bill is uncertain, a majority of members of the association will vote to send Chairman White of the pension committee to Springfield to lobby for passage of the measure.

Other members of the pension committee are Ed Schneider of Libertyville; Frank Freeman of North Chicago; Ed Hoshkins of Highland Park; Joseph Dada of Gurnee; A. W. Foss of Libertyville and Frank S. Huber of Antioch.

The firemen who met in the Wauconda fire station heard Capt. Frank Tevoren and Lieutenants Jack J. Harnings and John Olson of the Chicago fire department in addresses on the different methods of fire-fighting used in a large city in comparison to those used in small cities.

Members of the association stood silent and at attention for one minute as a tribute to the memory of Daniel J. Gallagher, Waukegan city fireman, who died two weeks ago.

The next meeting of the association will be held in Mundelein on March 24.

Antioch Basketeers Are Among High H. S. Scorers

Barnstable and Buchta of Antioch are included among the 20 highest scoring players in the recently completed conference games.

Ray Hahnfeldt, veteran forward on the championship Palatine team, was tops offensively with 118 points—31 baskets and 16 free throws—in ten games for an average of almost 12 per tilt.

Three points behind for second-place honor was Andy McNally of Grant. Third with 114 was George Kropp of Elia. Frank Oswald of Wauconda and Flash Hildebrandt of Palatine tied for fourth with 97 each.

Kropp Leads in Free Throws

Hahnfeldt scored five more field goals than his nearest rival McNally. Kropp led in number of free throws with 26. Hildebrandt had the best charity-loss percentage—making 23 out of 36 tries.

Glen Kniege of Elia was first last year with 103 points. Hahnfeldt, then a junior, was fourth with 88.

Chief Source of Revenue

Chief source of revenue in the Bahamas are the tourist trade, sponge growing, sisal cultivations and the production of straw hats and baskets from this plant. Agriculture is rapidly being developed and there is an increasing production of jewelry from tortoise-shell and sea-shells.

Intense Heat

In a new South Dakota flour mill, the heat generated by friction in the grinding machine is so great that heated air it creates, drawn off by a fan and washed is sufficient to heat the entire six-story building, except in very cold weather, says Collier's.

Cholera

Cholera develops more rapidly than any other germ disease, according to Collier's. Persons have been known to die from it within one hour after feeling its first symptoms.

J. C. James sends us these jottings from the weather journal he has kept for many years.

We see by the papers where Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt kept her husband's train waiting five minutes. That settles it! It's a woman's prerogative to be late. . . anyhow, as the old poem goes . . . "and the young man WAITED" . . . and so did FDR.

A Waukegan paper notes:

A mysterious car in Mooney's cemetery last night brought a call by anxious neighbors for Highland Park police.

Officers responded and found a pair of Highland Park "spooners."

"Move on!" they warned.

Antioch firemen are really "making a haul" in the food line these days. Ralph Miller, at whose home on Route 173 the firemen halted a blaze recently, has donated a 200-pound pig to them in gratitude. And now come four fish (total weight 75 pounds), from "Bill" Roseng and George Garland, who are enjoying a winter vacation at Roseland, Fla. Boy! Are we going to drop in on the next firemen's meeting . . . along about lunch time!

Charles E. Cobb was in from Lake Marie on Saturday to pay his subscription to the Antioch News for the fifty-fifth year. "Charley" is one of the News' original subscribers . . . in fact, his subscription is older than the paper, for he paid it in advance several months before the first issue was actually brought off the press by J. J. Burke. Charley's subscription was one of those that made it possible to start the Antioch News. "And after reading it for all these years, I just can't get along without it!" he says.

And speaking of beautiful faith—

There is the case of a young friend of ours who sent in a slogan for "Wings" and ordered a flying helmet in the same mail.

Never mind if you were behind the door when the brains were passed out. A sign in a window across the street says "Brains 14c a pound."

It always irks us to drive past mailbox after mailbox along highways and by-ways—and not be able to see who lives there because the name isn't on the box. Wonder how the poor mail carriers ever remember who lives where? Anyhow, it sure cramps our style when we try to find folks' places—particularly in some subdivision. . . . And paint so cheap, too. You'd think a person with a fine-looking place would like a fine-looking mailbox, also. Of course, some do have 'em. Maybe the rest just ain't got around to thinking about it yet.

Somebody, somewhere, is going around missing a leather key case full of keys that's been at the News office for quite a while now. Finder may have same upon identifying.

Antioch firemen who prepared to start post-haste for the farm of William Larsen on Lake Marie Tuesday afternoon at 2:05 o'clock, were halted in mid-leap, practically, by a second hurried call that said the blaze had been extinguished. It was what was known technically as a "still" alarm, we believe . . . but wasn't half so "still" as the one that blew up Sunday.

As somebody or other remarked, "Practically anything can happen in Antioch—and usually does." Yessir, and then folks say they'd like to live out in the country, where it's quiet and peaceful. . . . Well, it is. Sometimes.

"Charley" Martin of Cross Lake, who has never missed a winter's ice harvest for the past 40 years or so, announces that he again holds the distinction of getting in the first ice of the season, at his ice-house near the lake. While some of the "old timers" have gone in for artificial ice during recent years, "Charley" still prefers the natural ice, and is the only one on Cross Lake who now specializes in it.

We hope we don't infringe on any copyright by quoting these few significant lines from "Hugh Johnson Says": "If you accept the main premise that 'Britain is fighting our war for us,' it is hard to think up an honest answer to that argument also. It would be a good thing for people who want to preserve their self-respect and at the same time keep this country out of war, prayerfully to re-examine their view of that slogan which is doing its work so swiftly and so broadly. They should make up their own minds whether they think 'Britain is fighting our war,' or whether the real truth is that whereas some of our interests happen to run parallel with those of England and in that respect we should do our part in aid, many of our interests do not run parallel and in that respect we should build up our own defenses and keep out of bloody war."

"History repeats itself," avers Peter Toll, who brought in a copy of "Dan Danske Pioneer" for Jan. 3, 1918. In the copy is a letter addressed "from Satan to the Kaiser." "If it wasn't for the date, and it was addressed to Hitler instead, you'd think it was written right now," says Peter, who discovered the old "Pioneer" while looking over some papers in his desk the other day.

University Specialist Will Conduct Tractor School

The committee selected from the Farm Bureau board in charge of the Lake County Tractor school announce that plans are nearly complete for the two-day course of instruction to be given at Rockenbach's garage, Grayslake on Monday and Tuesday, March 3 and 4.

R. C. Hay of the Agricultural engineering staff of the University of Illinois will conduct the school. He has had nearly 40 of these schools the past year throughout the state.

The main purpose of the school is to teach tractor owners and operators to make common adjustments and overcome common motor troubles on tractors and to give practical information on handling, adjusting and caring for the different makes of tractors. Nearly half of the maximum class of fifty are already enrolled. Enrollment cards that will insure a place at the school can be secured at the Farm Bureau office or at the following tractor dealers who are furnishing the tractors for the school: Earl Barron, Grayslake; Sheldon garage, Grayslake; Herschberger Implement Co., Prairie View; Murphy Implement Co., Mundelein, and the Schank Hardware Co., Libertyville.

In addition to conducting the two-day school, Mr. Hay on Monday evening, March 3, at Farmers Hall, Grayslake, will conduct an educational meeting for all farmers and members of their families. Several very interesting sound films dealing with power farming will be shown. To show that Mr. Hay means to have his scholars get some practical knowledge he wants them to report at 9:00 a. m. in work clothes and have with them a screw driver, pliers, 8-inch crescent wrench and notebooks and pencils.

Miss Sara Browe, who remembers seeing Abraham Lincoln when he was on his way to be inaugurated as president in Washington, observed her ninetieth birthday yesterday in Zion. She is a member of the well known pioneer Browe family of Russell.

A number of Eastern Star past masters were entertained at a chicken dinner on Thursday evening in the Maconic hall. Following the dinner cards were played.

Chief James Stearns was taken to Waukegan, following the fire Thursday at a farm near Bristol, for medical examination. The chief was hurt at the Cosgrove fire on Sunday morning.

Street lights in the residential sections of the village are lighted all night following the signing of a new contract with the Public Service company.

'Breaking' Into Movies

Two husky young men of 16 and 17 have been visiting all the studios in Hollywood by a simple trick. They buy some lumber—usually just one long board—and carry it in one of the side or rear gates. Once on a lot they're able to walk around as long as they like, but they have to leave the lumber there when they go home. The way they were discovered was by nearly being arrested for trying to carry their own board out of a studio.

Pound of Feathers

There is considerable difference in weight between a pound of gold and a pound of feathers. Gold is weighed by the troy system, in which there are 12 ounces to the pound, while feathers are weighed by the avoirdupois measure, in which there are 16 ounces to the pound. A troy pound, therefore, is less than the avoirdupois pound.

Housing Experiment

Newark has embarked on an experiment in education which will be watched by school authorities and municipal officials throughout the country. The board of education is building a public school to be an integral part of Seth Boyden court, United States housing authority public housing development.

Third Eyelid

Most birds have a third eyelid, known as the nictitating membrane, which serves to cover and clean the surface of the eye, reports the Better Vision Institute. It also is well-developed in cats, cows and rabbits. In the human eye there is a vestigial bit of such membrane under the red glandular swelling in the corner of the eye.

Shelves Are Needed in the Kitchen

Kitchens should have shelves to save you, to keep things in their places, and to make them easy "finds" when you need them. The things you need to store should determine the kinds of shelves you need. We have listed several tested-and-found-good kinds of shelves. If you need any of them, plan to fix them up this spring.

Stepped Shelves—A group of stepped shelves permits storage of bowls, platters and dishes that are unlike in size or shape, without stacking.

Sliding Shelves—It won't be necessary to reach into deep cupboards if a sliding shelf is used to bring out equipment.

Hanging Shelves—A shelf or group of shelves hung above or near a work surface is useful for storing a box of soap chips and other dishwashing supplies over a sink or for the storage of books.

Upright Partitions—Another way to prevent unnecessary stooping and reaching, and also to store unlike dishes and equipment without stacking them, is to use vertical partitions. Such partitions or "files" make use of space at the top or bottom of cupboards. Partitions may be made of heavy cardboard, wood or sheet metal.

1942 MODELS ARE IN PREPARATION

Already people are wondering all over the country whether there'll be any new automobile models for 1942. Though nothing can be absolutely definite yet, there is no indication, according to insiders, that any effort is being made at Ford's to hold up 1942 models. As national defense work stands at present, preparations for new models are in no way causing interference. Body design engineers are going steadily ahead with layouts.

Nazi Troops Are Massed in Balkans For Thrust at Greece to Aid Italians; Major Far East Crisis Approaches As Japanese-British Tension Grows

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the writer and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

IDES OF MARCH:

Hitler Again

In March, 1933, Adolf Hitler incorporated the rich Saar Valley into the Reich. In March, 1936, he occupied the Rhineland. In March, 1939, German troops moved southward and annexed Austria. In March, 1939, breaking the pledge of Munich—der fuhrer moved into Moravia and Bohemia and made the Czechoslovakia provinces German protectorates. In March, 1940, he got set for his moves into Norway and Denmark.

March, 1941, arrives.

If Hitler wins any success this year, he will thank his lucky stars. For Hitler is a believer in astrology and is declared to consult astrologers before he makes any major moves.

The Balkans

Even before the first of March, Hitler had gained the success he planned in the Balkans. The final moves may come in March, but the path of the army was paved by earlier diplomatic moves. Rumania was the highway and Josef Stalin fired the starting gun.

Deserted by its protectors, Bulgaria gave way to the Germans who had placed 600,000 soldiers on her border with Rumania. Bulgaria had been promised the help of Turkey, pro-British ally. And Turkey based its security on the promises of help from Russia. But Russia collapsed again. It notified Bulgaria to expect no help from Soviet troops and it influenced Turkey also to withdraw its promises to Bulgaria. Yugoslavia, surrounded on all sides, saw its ministers called to Munich and receive orders.

All this to get to plucky Greece. Greece, despite its army's victories over the Italians, saw its neighbors fall before the Nazi threat. It had a choice of making a futile effort to fight Germany alone, or to capitulate like all the rest.

Greece was given little time to decide. A German ultimatum was drafted. Resistance means that the nation would be the battleground of German and British armies—provided the British could, in sufficient time, extract troops from the African front and convey them to the Balkans.

The Far East

Meanwhile in Asia the other Axis partner, Japan, was growing more and more belligerent. Troops and naval concentrations were moved into Thailand (Siam) and close to French Indo-China. Threatened principally was the British naval base at Singapore. But threatened as well were the Malay peninsula, rich in rubber and tin; the Dutch East Indies, wealthy in the same products. And between these two spots stood two other potentially valuable colonies that long have been the apple of Japan's eyes—Australia and the Philippines.

The question was what would Britain and the United States do in the face of this hostile action. The question was not long in being answered. Britain sent a convoy after a convoy of tough, hardened Australian troops to Singapore—men who were ready and anxious to fight for their homeland.

The United States' reply was less spectacular but just as defiant. It sent home the wives and children of all army and navy men in the Far East. Other U.S. citizens were told to get out as quickly as possible. The U. S. Pacific fleet sailed off, no one knew where.

To a Japanese declaration that it was the most misunderstood nation imaginable, and was willing to negotiate for peace anywhere at any time, undersecretary of state made an answer. "We are more interested," he said, "in deeds than in words."

MORE SOLDIERS:

U. S. Defense

Surveys have begun in the war department with a view of expanding the army to more than 3,000,000 men in case of emergency. It is hoped to be able to be accomplished the next year if necessary.

Sites for additional camps are now being quietly surveyed all over the country. Production plans are being revised to reach this end and congress has been asked for some of the preliminary funds.

What the army hopes to realize is the ability to put 55 divisions into the field instead of the 27 which will be in camps on June 1 of this year. To reach this it is possible that the present National Guard units will be held in the federal army for another year and that many of the selectees now going to camps also will be retained. The latter go on reserve immediately upon completion of their training and can be recalled as needed to fill the requirements of the standing armed forces.

In the near future President Roosevelt likely will present to congress a $3,000,000,000 program toward this end.

Equipment

Meanwhile the first flow of supplies are beginning to reach the armed forces. The army air corps units expect to receive in March the first new fighting planes embodying features developed in European warfare. Deliveries already have started on a limited number of Bell P-39 pursuit ships whose armament includes a 37-mm cannon fired through the propeller.

Also scheduled for early delivery are medium and light bombers, which, like fighting planes, are equipped with leakproof fuel tanks, armor protection and heavier fire power. Many will go to the Panama Canal Zone and others to Puerto Rico.

SPIES AND OIL:

In Latin America

Usually informed circles in Mexico City discussed a sensational report of a Nazi Fifth Column ring which was said to be operating from the Canadian border to the Cape of Good Hope. The ring was declared to be directed from Philadelphia.

Mexican circles, describing the alleged conspiracy, said it was a preliminary step in Nazi efforts to gain economic control of the Western hemisphere. The plot was said also to engage Communists and Spanish Falangistas as well as Japanese agents, and the objective to be sabotaging of U. S. aid to Britain, blocking the American defense plans and antagonism against the United States in some of the Latin American countries.

For weeks there has been evidence of increased pro-Axis activity in Mexico. Several pro-Nazi publications have appeared. Ships arriving from Japan have unloaded numerous Germans. Propaganda has been aimed at creating suspicion on the United States' good neighbor policy, and at a whispering campaign that the U. S. would drag Mexico into war.

President Manuel Avila Camacho often has expressed his friendship for the United States and his dislike for totalitarian policies. Just a few days before news of the alleged ring was made public he submitted to a special session of the Mexican congress a bill which would reopen the rich Mexican oil resources to private exploitation. The bill apparently would clear the way for resumption of operations by U. S., British and Dutch companies expropriated in 1938. The government, however, would participate in the control.

'Bugs' at Capitol

The U. S. army, while demonstrating the latest type of one-ton reconnaissance car to a committee of Senators and Congressmen, permitted Sen. James Mead of New York to drive "the Bug" up the U. S. Capitol steps. The vehicle is capable of 75 miles per hour and its 80-inch wheelbase permits bombers to transport three of the units at a time.

TRAVELERS:

Home Again

Wendell L. Willkie and Harry Hopkins, former secretary of commerce, came home from war-torn Britain to make reports to the President and congress. Hopkins' data were secret, Willkie spoke to congress.

But Willkie's suggestion that the United States make available to Britain 5 to 10 destroyers a month met with opposition. First objection came from Naval Secretary Knox who said the United States could not spare any more ships without unbalancing the fleet. There was indication, however, that Willkie's proposal would be given more than casual consideration once the provisions of the lend-lease bill are under way.

Meanwhile Willkie revealed he may make another journey of inspection. This time he may go to the war front in Asia, visiting Gen. Chiang Kai-shek in China.

Two other American representatives were waiting for the opportunity to fly to Britain. They are John C. Wainwright, the newly appointed ambassador, and C. Avrell Harriman, who was named by the President to the task of co-ordinating the British aid program. Harriman is the son of E. H. Harriman, one of the nation's greatest railroad builders.

MIGRATION:

Men at Work

For the first time in more than a decade unemployment in the United States has virtually been wiped out. William T. Livingston, economist of the Alexander Hamilton Institute, reported after a nation-wide survey. Livingston estimated the total employment now nears 50,000,000, a record high, more than 4,000,000 above the 1929 peak.

By comparing census figures, social security records and relief totals, he estimated that there are now but 1,600,000 men without jobs. He pointed out, however, there always is a number of persons who are temporarily out of work as the result of changing jobs, and seasonal factors.

New Problem

High officials of the American Federation of Labor, however, expressed concern over another problem—the thousands of men who have been shifted around the country to meet defense needs. They feared many of these might soon again find themselves unemployed and far away from home.

More than 300,000 of these men are engaged in the building trades, erecting cantonments. Much of this work may be finished by early March.

Concentrations of men in many of these communities has also increased the health hazard, since the small communities around camps and defense industries are unable to furnish homes and adequate food supplies.

MISCELLANY:

Arrested—Harry R. Bridges, West coast C. I. O. leader, was arrested again on an order to deport him to his native Australia. The warrant was issued by Attorney General Jackson who said Bridges was a Communist. Similar proceedings by Secretary Perkins last year brought about an acquittal report from Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school, the trial examiner.

Romance—Mr. and Mrs. George I. Searle, of Des Moines, Iowa, who were divorced 33 years ago, have changed their minds. They remarried.

Family Busy—The entire family of former Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire got into the newspapers within a week. First the governor was named U. S. ambassador to London; then Constance, his 20-year-old daughter, eloped with a Peruvian. Finally Mrs. Winant scored. One of her pets won a blue ribbon at the New York dog show.

HIS JOB IS TO BREAK GLASS

DEARBORN, MICH.—This man's job is to break glass. He's been at it for years. Yet he keeps on breaking it, trying to find a kind of glass that will bend instead of break.

After the first success with a glass that would break in a way that would not leave jagged edges, continued experiments have produced a glass which will crack and bend but not smash into dangerous cutting edges. In the 1920s, when the jagged glass in broken windshields was a major menace in even minor accidents, the Ford Motor Company pioneered safety glass in automobiles.

This picture, taken at that company's glass plant, shows a 2-pound ball falling five feet upon a piece of safety glass. The glass merely cracks slightly. There is a newer glass now which will withstand the ball dropping 16 feet. This glass has a rubber-like quality and bends slightly when hit.

Ordinary plate glass of quarter-inch thickness shatters into jagged pieces when the balls drop only 18 inches.

Safety glass is made on the sandwich principle. This principle is to place between two layers of glass a sheet of plastic known as vinyl. Glass and plastic are formed into one unit under heat and pressure.

The Father-Son banquet sponsored by the Ladies' Aid society at the church last Wednesday evening was attended by eighty fathers and sons and was a very enjoyable affair. There were conflicting dates of other affairs, but all who came were loud in praise of the banquet and the entertainment which followed. The Rev. Butterworth of Gurnee showed very fine colored motion pictures of the South Sea Islands and described them vividly.

On Friday evening, Feb. 28, the second of the Family Fellowship suppers at the church will be held at 7 o'clock. "Please bring your favorite dish of food to pass and enjoy a pleasant social time with your neighbors. There will be an entertaining evening to follow," the committee announces.

Winners at Egg Show Held Here Are Announced

Seventy Poultry Enthusiasts Hear Professor Loomis

An egg show of twenty-five entries, larger than any display at the usual county fairs, was judged by Professor A. P. Loomis at the Antioch High school, last Thursday evening.

In the white egg classes, F. A. Swenson of Antioch won 1st award; W. C. Edwards of Antioch won second; while H. M. Schmelz of Lake Villa took third place. Fifteen entries were shown.

In the brown egg classes, Gordon Severson of Lake Villa won first with a display of Barred Plymouth Rock eggs. E. H. Elfers of the R. and L. Ranch of Antioch placed second, while Milton Smith of Antioch took third. Severson and Smith are students of the Antioch High School Vocational Agriculture department.

Prof. Loomis Speaks
Professor A. P. Loomis, formerly superintendent of the Kansas State College poultry farm and the Poultry Tribune farm and now superintendent of Citedella farm at Woodstock, Ill., gave some valuable information on the "Management and Feeding of the Laying Hen."

William Hoppe, district representative of the Purina Milling company, was also present and showed technical colored film entitled "The Development of a Chick Embryo." The meeting was held in co-operation with the Antioch Milling company and the Antioch High School Evening class. The meeting was in charge of C. L. Kutil, Vocational Agriculture instructor of the High school. Seventy poultry men and women were present.

The eighty-second anniversary of the incorporation of Waukegan as a city was observed Sunday. Previous to its incorporation, the hamlet had been known as "Little Port," and had 10 years earlier been organized as a village, with a population of 2,500.

How He Knew
A squad of recruits were out with an officer who was putting them through an observation test. Coming to the top of a hill the officer pointed to a distant party of soldiers. "Private Smith," he said to one of his squad, "how many men are in the digging party in that field?" The party was so far away that they only looked like tiny dots, but Smith replied unhesitatingly: "Sixteen men and a sergeant, sir!" The officer put his field glasses to his eyes, and counted them. "That's quite right," he said, "but how did you know there was a sergeant there?" "He's the one not digging, sir," replied Smith.
